eLibrary

Real People. Real Knowledge.

The DIDI Design Library is pleased to invite you to the launching of eLibrary, an online interactive platform that allows interpersonal dialogues between people that can gain real-life learnings and inspirations from the DIDI Human Books (industry experts).

The event serves as open communication channel with the Human Books as a point reference for the audience to gain insights as inspiration for their academic journey and as much as they want to know more about the design profession.

This is also the library's response to social distancing.

During the event, the Human Books will tell their story with focus on their journey and knowledge base.

Afterwhich, the audience may ask questions based on the narrated story.
